

SCHOOL TEACHER

LOSES HER FIGHT.

Absented Herself From Class Duties to Become a Mother.

New York, Feb. 10.—Mrs. Bridget Pexiotto, a school teacher, who won a preliminary battle in the State Supreme Court after having been dismissed by the school board because she absented herself from her duties to become a mother, met reversal by the appellate division.

This court unanimously upset Justice Seabury's decision, which had ordered the board to reinstate the teacher. The higher court held that Mrs. Pexiotto should have applied to the State Commissioner of Education for relief rather than to the courts.

Twenty Patients Received.

Twenty male white patients from the Lakeland State Hospital were received at the Western State Hospital here Saturday night over the L. & N. Railroad. The transfer was made because of the crowded conditions at the Lakeland institution. They came in charge of attendants and were transferred without any trouble.

Found $1300

The police have recovered $1300 of the currency stolen by Wm. Grider at Henderson, from the mail of the Henderson National Bank. It was incomplete bank notes, to which had been forged the names of officers. It was hidden in the bed at Grider's boarding house.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

METEOR FALLS

Causes Near Panic in Middleboro "Movie" and Saloon.

Middleboro, Ky., Feb. 10.—About 10 o'clock Saturday night a meteor exploded near the opera house, causing a near panic, which was averted by the presence of mind of several young women school teachers and high school boys urging the crowd to sit down and be quiet. A ball of fire went down Cumberland avenue through the archlights.

The saloons were emptied and the colored persons that were on the streets began to pray. Many felt electrical shocks. Several women fainted. Persons for five minutes afterwards saw stars up and down the street. All the lights in the town went out and there was a period of total darkness.

MORE OR LESS OF A JOKE

Auto Driver's Comment on Careless Horse Wielder Really Mild Under the Circumstances.

An East end man moved last summer, and among the other necessities of the new home was a 50-foot section of garden hose, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The East end man has a fondness for boasting about his steadiness under trying conditions, and never tires of telling of his sangfroid when a passenger coach in which he was riding was raided by a pair of train robbers.

One Sunday afternoon he was sprinkling the lawn when an automobile containing some friends drew up at the curb. The East end man, hose in hand, hurried across the walk to greet them, and then turned to wave his hand to his wife, who was on the porch, to come down. As he whirled about he forgot the hose and unconsciously trained it directly on the party in the auto. There were wild shrieks from the women in the car. The hoseman hastily threw the stream around, and let it drive squarely at his wife, who was hurrying down the walk from the porch. "What in blazes do you think you're doing?" roared the sputtering auto driver, "getting out a comic supplement?"

REAL CAUSE OF EYE FATIGUE

Not the Retina, but the Inner and Outer Muscles of the Eyeballs Become Tired.

One makes a great mistake by saying that the eyes are tired and the retina or seeing portion of the eye is fatigued. This is not the case, for the retina seldom if ever gets tired. The fatigue is in the inner and outer muscles attached to the eyeballs and the muscles of accommodation which surround the lens of the eye. When a near object has to be looked at this muscle relaxes and allows the lens to thicken, increasing its refractive power. The inner and outer muscles are used in covering the eye on the object to be looked at, the inner one being especially used when a near object is looked at. It is in three muscles mentioned that the fatigue is felt, and relief is secured temporarily by closing the eyes or gazing at far distant objects. The usual indication of strain is a redness of the rim of the eyelid, betokening a congested state of the inner surface, accompanied by some pain. Sometimes this weariness indicates the need of glasses rightly adapted to the person, and in other cases the true remedy is to rub the eye and its surroundings as far as may be with the hand wet in cold water.

EASY DIPLOMA.

After a Canadian named Morgan had been appointed to a government place it was discovered that the position technically had to be occupied by a lawyer, which Mr. Morgan was not. The benchers of the law society, however, undertook to obviate the technicality, and appointed one of their number to examine Morgan. "Tell us, Mr. Morgan," said the examiner, "what do you know about the law, anyway?" "To tell the truth," was the modest response of Morgan, "I don't know a single thing." Whereupon the examiner intimated that the question was at an end. He turned in his affidavit, wherein it was stated: "I have examined Mr. Morgan as to his knowledge of the law, and to the best of my knowledge and belief he has answered all the questions with entire correctness."

SUCCESS MEANS SELF-DENIAL

Those Who Would Gain Position and Wealth Must Be Willing to Pay the Price Demanded.

What is the secret of success in business? There is no secret about it. All you have to do is attend to your business and go ahead.—Commodore Vanderbilt.

Success demands effort and sacrifice. This seems like a trite statement, but it is so true that it will bear repetition.

Men and women with their eyes successward do not live each day entirely unto itself; they take thought of the morrow, its emergencies, its possibilities, its opportunities.

It is a matter of most pressing importance to every young person to consider the advisability of doing without certain pleasures and expensive comforts at present for the sake of enjoying them longer at a later date.

What share of life's comforts, enjoyments and freedom from hardship do you want for your later days?

From time immemorial this question has found its solution in a willingness to make reasonable effort in one's own behalf and to postpone little gratifications that are not really necessary now in order to enjoy them in multiplied ratio later on.

Look around you in the community. Consider the lives of the successful men here with whose history you are familiar. In nine cases out of ten it is not true that these men have found that early self-denial and thrift formed a big part of the price they had to pay for material success?—Houghton Mining Gazette.

TEACH EAST ABOUT THE WEST

Sectional Misunderstanding, All Too Prevalent, Might Be Cleared up With Farm Education.

In many western states they have begun to teach earth education, says a writer in the Country Gentleman. It has taken hold with a magnificent grip. Boys and girls are showing amazingly more interest in the growth of a tomato vine than they ever did in the table manners of the Medes and Persians. Some day all our public schools may teach a little elementary agriculture and awaken an interest in children in things that grow—an interest that should lead to future enlightenment and understanding. If only the single principle that successful farming is not a haphazard pastime, but a business and a science requiring both patience and ingenuity, could be hammered home a tremendous advance would be made.

It might also be an excellent plan to teach eastern school children a few truths concerning our great west, and our western school children a few truths about the east—not the wild and woolly west nor the colonial east, but the west and east of today.

A double execution of women with ax and block took place at Ratibor prison in Prussia last Friday. The executioner first chopped off the head of Franziska Zimmer, a young woman convicted of murdering her stepmother. Then the headsman executed Josepha Kubacka, who killed her husband, a miner. Both women died stoically. The executions were witnessed only by officials.

Chinese Barbers.

In China barbers go about like peddlers from house to house, though there are one or two shops in the larger cities where the charge averages four cents.

Buys Larger Farm.

W. L. Gore has bought the Litchfield farm on the Palmyra pike, better known as the Buckner place, and is preparing to move his dairy to it early next month. It consists of 145 acres and is only a mile or two from town. Mr. Gore recently sold his farm of 75 acres on the Nashville pike to C. H. Bryant.

Taking Out Stone.

The L. & N. has put in a side track, extending from Fourteenth street almost to Walnut, and is taking out great quantities of stone and carrying it to different points along its line, which revives the old prophecy that the L. & N. will ultimately be double tracked from the coal fields to Nashville.

Bought a Farm.

G. W. Wills closed a deal last Monday with E. B. Ledford for his farm of 161 acres, 2 miles west of Pembroke. Mr. Wills will take possession March 1st. This is a splendid small farm and the improvements are first class. The price paid is private.

Held Over.

Silas Butler, who was taken from here to Woodward, Okla., on a murder charge a week or two ago, was held over on his examining trial to the district court March 23 and his bail fixed at $4,000.
